

H. Dunbar Hoskins Jr., MD

H. Dunbar Hoskins Jr., MD is the Executive Vice President of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, a position he assumed January 1, 1993, after a distinguished career in private practice. The American Academy of Ophthalmology is a leader in Subspecialty Societies in the area of outcomes analysis, patient advocacy, understanding health care delivery dilemmas, and educational and technological innovations.

Dr. Hoskins is an internationally recognized glaucoma specialist, having authored or co-authored more than 70 publications and presented more than 300 invited lectures.

He received an Academy Honor Award in 1979 and a Senior Honor Award in 1989 and Distinguished Service Award in 1999. He is also a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Society, the Sigma Zeta Honor Society, and was listed in the March 1991 issue of Good Housekeeping as one of "The 400 Best Doctors in America," as well as being repeatedly listed as a part of "Best Doctors in America."

He has held numerous other positions in ophthalmology, medicine and business. Among the highlights: Chairman of St. Mary's Hospital and Medical Center in San Francisco, Chairman of Mercy Services Corporation, founder and Chairman of Medem Corporation, Founding Director of the American Glaucoma Society, founder and Director of the Foundation for Glaucoma Research and Secretary-Treasurer of the Pan American Association of Ophthalmology, and Chairman of the Advisory Committee to the International Council of Ophthalmology.

He is a Clinical Professor of Ophthalmology at the University of California School of Medicine, San Francisco.

Born in Virginia, Dr. Hoskins, the son of an ophthalmologist, received his medical degree at the Medical College of Virginia where he did his internship and residency. He was certified by the American Board of Ophthalmology in 1970 and did his Glaucoma Fellowship at the University of California School San Francisco Medical Center. He served as Chief of Ophthalmology at the Naval Hospital in Rhode Island in 1968.

The father of three, he lives with his wife, Ann, in Belvedere, located in Northern California.